The Cumberland Valley Athletic Club
Proudly Presents
The 45th Annual John F. Kennedy 50 Mile
“America’s Ultramarathon”

Max White

Howard Nippert

TWO FOR TWO

Max White and Howard Nippert both entered the JFK 50 Mile twice and both won the JFK 50 Mile twice. They are the only men in event history who can make that claim. White dominated the 1973 JFK 50 Mile in a course record shattering 5:55:30 (a mark still tied for the fourth fastest performance in JFK 50 Mile history) and then repeated as champion in 1974 with a rain-and-sleet-hampered 6:06:19. Nippert won his maiden JFK 50 Mile attempt in 1998 - - with a 5:58:41 - - and then returned seven years later to triumph in 5:51:28, the second fastest time in race history and the current JFK 50 Mile masters record. Nippert is the only individual in JFK 50 Mile history to dip under six-hours more than once.

Dear JFK 50 Mile "Family",

History and tradition, the JFK 50 Mile is steeped in it. The event itself was inspired by John F. Kennedy while he served as President of the United States of America. For nearly half-a-century runners, hikers, fitness enthusiasts and people just looking for a worthy challenge have traversed undulating roads, the Appalachian Trail and the C&O Canal Towpath as JFK 50 Mile participants.

On the morning of November 17, 2007 1,000-plus adventurous souls will assemble in Boonsboro as JFK 50 Mile participants for the 45th consecutive year. To the challengers of this latest edition of America's Oldest Ultramarathon, I salute you. During your journey, please keep in your thoughts --and prayers-- our military personnel who are not with us today. Some were actually entered in the 45th Annual JFK 50 Mile, but had to withdraw because of early deployment. Many are in training to protect our freedoms and others still are standing in harms way at this exact moment. Some have given the ultimate sacrifice.

When things get tough on the course, keep a "warriors" mentality, but remember who truly are the WARRIORS that make the continued history and tradition of this event --and all we do here in "The home of the free and land of the brave"-- possible. When you see some of these true WARRIORS from every branch of the U.S. military out on the course --many just back home from serving-- let them know how much you appreciate them and their service.

Good luck to one and all.

Best Wishes,

Mike Spinnler

JFK 50 Mile Competitor (1971-90)

JFK 50 Mile Winner (1982 & 1983)

JFK 50 Mile Director (1993-present)

In Memory

Hubert Elwood “Buck” Huntzberry, Sr., 1924-2007. Buck was a long-time loyal volunteer of the JFK 50 Mile who served in event communications assistance as a member of the Antietam Radio Association. He served in World War II as a member of the U.S. Army participating in five major campaigns including Normandy and Ardennes. He passed away on June 6th –the 63rd anniversary of D-Day.

Some things to think about...

"Age wrinkles the body. Quitting wrinkles the soul." Gen. D. MacArthur

"It hurts up to a point and then it doesn't get any worse." Ann Trason

"The gun goes off and everything changes... the world changes... and nothing else really matters." Patti Sue Plummer

"Some of the world's greatest feats were accomplished by people not smart enough to know they were impossible." Doug Larson

"Stadiums are for spectators. We runners have nature and that is much better." Juha Väätäinen

The finish line, like the truth, is out there somewhere.

Your life will change forever when you cross the finish line.

Ultimately, it all comes down to a single, final step.

He who suffers, remembers.

Pain and suffering are often catalysts for life's most profound lessons.

"Adventure is worthwhile in itself." Amelia Earhart

"What counts in battle is what you do when the pain sets in." John Short

"Bid me run, and I will strive with things impossible." Julius Caesar

"Only those who will risk going too far can possibly find out how far they can go." T.S. Eliot

"When you are going through hell, keep going." Winston Churchill

"Success seems to be largely a matter of hanging on after others have let go." William Feathers

"Get going. Get up and walk if you have to, but finish the damned race." Ron Hill

"The more difficulties you have on the way, the more you will enjoy your success." Juha Väätäinen

A SENSE OF COMMUNITY IS WHAT MANY PEOPLE

LOOK FOR IN A BANK. WE KNOW. WE GREW UP HERE.

That's why as much as our services have grown, we serve as a hometown bank. It's what we've been to people in the community for many years. And the way we work for them: as neighbors helping neighbors, and friends caring for friends' interests. See what we mean when you're in the neighborhood.

JFK 50 Mile “Mileage Clubs” Update

The current organizers of the JFK 50 Mile are in the process of securing all of the previous JFK 50 Mile results from the 1960s, 70s, 80s and early 90s into a data base. The updated listing of the JFK 50 Mile “Mileage Clubs” (usually published in the event program) will be on the JFK 50 Mile’s website www.jfk50mile.org in the very near future. We also hope to have the complete results of every JFK 50 Mile (from 1963 through the present) available on that same website.

There are now 243 individuals who have finished the JFK 50 Mile at least ten times.

The newest members of the JFK 50 Mile “500 Mile” Club:

Rookie Breckinridge Leads 1,017 to the Largest Ultra Finish in North American History at JFK 50 Mile

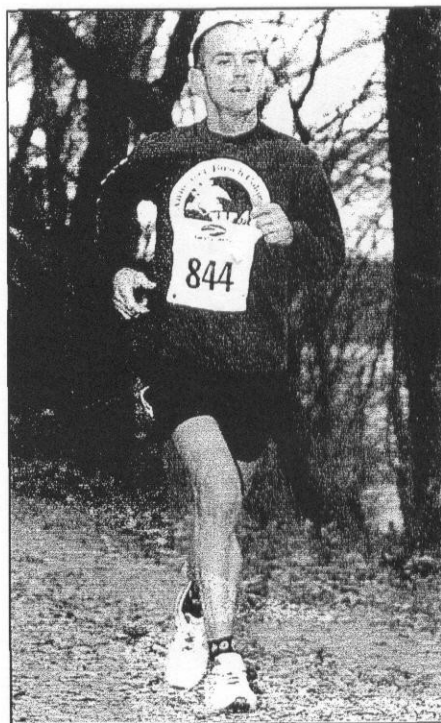

by E.P. Doyle

Former William and Mary standout Pete Breckinridge reemerged after a decade-long competitive running retirement to shock a long list of favorites and win the largest ultramarathon ever held on the North American continent, at the 44th Annual JFK 50 Mile on November 18. The 36-year-old Breckinridge, the Colonial Athletic Association 10,000 meter runner-up way back in 1993, was on none of the pre-race pundits' short lists—or even their long lists for that matter. The elite men's field included two-time JFK 50 Mile runner-up and ultra legend Ian Torrence, reigning USATF 50 Mile Trail Champ Hal Koerner, 2000 Olympic Marathon Trialist John Piggott, and 2006 Air Force Marathon Champ Mark Cucuzzella, as well as a number of other potential winners with sub-six-hour 50-mile times on their résumés. Breckinridge's modest prior accomplishments (a 2:35 marathon, 1:11 half-marathon, and 31:22 10-km) were neither overly-impressive nor current. His most recent personal best performances date no later than 1995.

As expected, Torrence led through the difficult Appalachian Trail (15.5-mile) section of the course in a solid 1:56, with first-time ultrarunner Piggott just off the pace. Once on the 26.3-mile flat towpath section, Piggott, the masters title winner at the Baltimore Marathon five weeks earlier, quickly moved to the front and opened up a seven-minute lead by the 24.8-mile aid station, with the tandem of Koerner and Cucuzzella giving the closest chase. Nine minutes off the lead at 15.5 miles and in an unnoticed 14th place, a "way-under-the-radar" Breckinridge stepped on to the towpath and methodically started pulling in runner after runner. Over the next 14.6 miles he would morph from "also-ran" to "who-are-you?" status.

By the 30.1-mile aid station, Piggott began to slow noticeably and looked vulnerable to Koerner and Albany, New York's first-time-50-miler James Sweeney, both quickly closing the gap. Suddenly, just seconds behind Koerner and Sweeney came a flying Breckinridge, who had covered the previous 14 miles at sub 6:40 per-mile-pace to pull into contention. No one among the spectators, media, race organizers or entourage handling the front-running elites had any idea who this "number 844" was. All that was known was that he was entered on a team entitled "Old And In The Way," comprised of a group (other than himself) of 46 to 53-year-old current-non-elite athletes. His entry form listed no 50-mile personal best and a desperate Google search on the Internet brought nothing up. A check on the recording lists at the previous points along the course verified that he wasn't some imposter, but rather perfectly executing a classic "cautious-across-the-mountains-and-then-go-to-work" JFK race strategy.

By the 34.4-mile aid station Breckinridge had overtaken Koerner and Sweeney and came into the aid station just seconds behind a struggling Piggott. Then in a moment reminiscent of the media personnel hanging out the window of the press bus at the 1976 Boston Marathon to ask the race leader (a then unknown Jack Fultz) "Who are you?" a race official on a bicycle turned and asked Breckinridge that same question.

At the 38.5-mile aid station Andy Mason, a journalist covering the race and also a 6:51 JFK performer from 2005, alerted race officials that Breckinridge was a

William and Mary product from the early 90s and that he had personally known him as a fraternity brother while he too was a student down at the Williamsburg, Virginia institution. Mason also recounted that Breckinridge had been a member of "one of the best collegiate cross country teams in the country back then" and "was a guy known for running bigger miles than anyone else on the team to compete with guys who were more physically talented."

The frontrunner of America's oldest and largest ultramarathon had now been identified, and despite his "cover being blown," his dream of winning the JFK 50 Mile would not be denied. Covering the towpath marathon (26.3 miles) in 2:58, Breckinridge held strong down the final 8.4-mile road section. Clocking the undulating roads in just over 61 minutes, the Norfolk, Virginia resident breasted the tape in Williamsport with a most-impressive 6:04:40 maiden 50-mile effort. The mark makes him the 16th fastest performer (17th best performance) in the storied history of the JFK 50 Mile. The promising Sweeney (just 25 years of age) posted a 6:12:37 for second, while Koerner grabbed the last prize money place in 6:19:52. The 23-year-old Indiana University of Pennsylvania graduate student Adam Lint was fourth in 6:24:29, while Knoxville, Tennessee's Jon Lawler, who was second overall at 42 miles, rounded out the top five and claimed the masters title in 6:25:01.

Fifty-year-old lawyer and mother of five Barry Salisbury had last run the JFK 50 Mile in 2003, when as a 47-year-old she finished third overall among the ladies in a personal best 7:57:08. She returned this year to take a shot at the women's 50-and-over record of 8:13:30, set by Pat Botts back in 1996. She not only got the record, but also a bit more "icing" on the cake as well, as she became the oldest male or female to ever win the JFK 50 Mile. The Middletown, Maryland resident took the lead for good from Canadian Susan Hutchinson on the final 8.4-mile road section and broke the tape in 8:00:31. Hutchinson held on for the runner-up spot in 8:10:36, with fellow Canadian Victoria Baylis filling the third podium position with an 8:23:05 clocking.

Age-group action was highlighted by a stunning record breaking performance in the men's 70-and-over division, as 70-year-old Tony Cerminaro of Jermyn, Pennsylvania crushed the previous record (9:47:45, Louis Joline, 2002) by more than 38 minutes with a remarkable 9:09:00 effort. A total of 1,017 official finishers crossed the finish line in Williamsport, Maryland. This tally is historic on two counts. First, it is the most number of finishers ever in an ultramarathon footrace conducted in North America, and secondly, it surpasses the "once-thought-ridiculous" 1,000-finisher milestone. The 45th Annual JFK 50 Mile is scheduled for November 17, 2007. Entry forms and information will be available on the event's website (www.jfk50mile.org) on July 1, 2007. The race has reached its 1,100 "starter cap" well before race-day in each of the last two years and expects to fill once again well before race day in 2007.

Fifty and Flying: Barry Salisbury Tops the JFK Women's Field

by Stan Goldberg, The Frederick News

As Barry Salisbury headed toward the finish line at the 44th John F. Kennedy 50 Mile, the announcer listed her accomplishments. The 50-year-old Middletown resident was the oldest person to win the women's title. She was going to "smash" the 50-and-over women's record that had stood for a decade. As the announcer spoke, Salisbury crossed the finish line in 8:00:31. She easily broke her age-group record of 8:13:30, set in 1996. She also finished nine minutes ahead of second-place women's finisher Susan Hutchinson, who is in her mid-30s. When Salisbury caught up with Hutchinson, she asked her competitor if she wanted to cross the finish line together. Hutchinson said she couldn't keep up with Salisbury, so the Middletown woman went on.

The JFK took a lot out of Salisbury, who had finished the event three previous times, including 2003, when she clocked 7:57:08. Soon after crossing the finish line, Salisbury's husband Todd, 15-year-old daughter Caroline, and friend Amy Clapp took her arm to help her walk. "This is it. No more, unless I walk it when I am 70 or something," Salisbury said.

The Frederick lawyer and mother of five walked into Springbrook Middle School and made it as far as the cafeteria, where she lay down on the floor. Clapp put a pillow behind her head. She could go no further. "I'm not dying, I'm just tired," she said. "Really, I'm o.k. I feel pretty dizzy." The medics who were on duty came over and put her on a stretcher. "I don't mind you picking me up, you can do what you want at this point," she said. They took her over to a cot, took her blood pressure, and put an IV in her arm. Meanwhile, her husband took out his cell phone and called their children to let them know how she did.

Barry Salisbury continued to talk as the medics worked on her. She asked her daughter how she had done on her exam that morning. She then handed a piece of paper to Clapp. The paper listed names of people she prayed for as she ran. She said those prayers helped her continue. "At mile 36 I didn't know if I was going to make it," Salisbury said. "Then, when I hit mile 38, I knew I could finish." She said the soft drink she drank and the shoes she wore helped her finish. "I'm not doing this again," she reiterated.

Five-and-a-half hours earlier, Todd Salisbury had a concerned look on his face as he waited at Weverton Cliffs, where the runners come off the Appalachian Trail at the 16-mile mark of the JFK. He thought his wife would come into Weverton at about 9:15. By 9:20, though, she wasn't there. "I hope she's all right," he said as he looked at his watch. He continued to look intently at the trail, watching for his wife, who wore a blue windbreaker and white visor. "She's a little behind schedule," he said a little after 9:30. "She wanted to take it easy in this area because of the rocks." He took solace in the fact no other woman had emerged from the trail yet. His wife had been the top woman earlier at Crampton Gap.

Finally, at about 9:38, his worried look turned to one of relief. His wife was coming down the trail. He could relax. Todd Salisbury ran over and handed her something to drink. Then he ran a short distance with her before she went off on her own. "She looks good," he said. "She's not bleeding. The last time she ran (2003), she looked wobbly. But she said she feels fine. I think she's going to pick it up on the (C&O) Canal Towpath." He said all she wanted was a hat. He didn't have one on him, but had one in his car, and would get it to his wife at the next checkpoint. Then, he was off to his car, confident his wife would finish the race, because the Appalachian Trail was the worst part for her.

It was her husband who got Barry Salisbury involved in running. He was an avid runner who took part in the Boston Marathon. She played lacrosse and field hockey in college. In 1978, she began to run. Then, in 1990 she entered her first JFK. "I did it because Todd did it," she said a few days before the JFK. "I said, 'If you can do it, I might as well.'" Both finished, in 9:46:06. "She could have run faster, but she ran with me," Todd said. In 1999, the husband and wife were joined by their 17-year-old son Grant. This time Barry ran the distance in 8:13:14. Her husband and son also finished.

She remembers watching her son late in the race and wondered if he could finish. He said he was o.k. She asked if she could run along with him and he told her to go ahead. "I beat him by five minutes," she said. "I told him that was the last time this was going to happen." Then, in 2003, Grant again said he wanted to run. Barry decided to join him the day before the race. "I had to take him over to register and the weather was perfect," she said. "I decided to run. You forget how bad it is." That year, she finished the race in 7:57:08, the second-best time by a woman. Grant was 18th in 7:08:23. But Barry had a rough time of it. She fell six times on the trail. "I ended up pulling my hip out of alignment," Salisbury said. "I knew it wasn't going to cause long-term damage. It was just hurting. I was in pain, but it was just a mental thing." Last year, Grant entered again, but was unable to finish because of back problems. Barry was there to support him, though. "I wrote race director Mike Spinnler and said, 'Thanks for putting this together,'" she said. "He wrote back and said, 'Thanks.' Then, doggone him, he wrote, 'I wish you luck if you decide to enter the (race); give the 50-and-over-record a go.' I took that as a challenge."

Salisbury, who runs eight miles a day and bikes another 20, decided she would enter as long as the weather was good. The weather was almost perfect, and there she was on Saturday morning, starting her fourth JFK. "This is my last time," she said. "There are other things I can use my energy for. This is pretty grueling." After finishing this year's JFK, she had no plans to change her mind.

History along the Route of the JFK 50-Mile: from A to Z

A Boonsboro: Founded in 1792 by George and William Boone, cousins of frontiersman Daniel Boone, this town has been the starting point of the John F. Kennedy Memorial 50-Mile since its inception in 1963.

B Washington Monument: On July 4, 1827, the citizens of Boonsboro built a 32-ft.-high, crock-shaped stone monument on the Blue Rocks of South Mountain. It was the first structure built to honor our nation's first president.

C The National Road: Originally called the "Bank Road" because it was funded by various banks along the way, today's Route 40A became part of the "National Road" when Congress approved funds in 1818 to extend this road from Cumberland, Maryland to Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois – the country's first federally funded highway project.

D Old South Mountain Inn: The "Mountain House" here was once a tavern along the National Road. Across the road stands Dahlgren Chapel, built in 1882 with funds from Madeleine Vinton Dahlgren for Catholic services.

E Battle of South Mountain: On September 14, 1862, about 10,000 Confederate soldiers under Gen. Robert E. Lee defended three mountain passes – Turners Gap (where today's Route 40A crosses), Fox Gap (where today's Reno Monument Road crosses), and Cramptons Gap (at today's Gathland State Park) – against the advance units of Gen. George B. McClellan's 80,000-man army. Lee had split his 40,000-man army to capture Union troops in Harpers Ferry (see "Battle of Maryland Heights," M on next page), and defended South Mountain here to buy time for his divided army to join him near Sharpsburg where the Battle of Antietam was fought on September 17, 1862.

F Reno Monument: Just off Reno Monument Road at Fox Gap is a stone monument that marks where Maj. Gen. Jesse Reno was killed during the Battle of South Mountain. After the Civil War, a Union veteran of this battle became a miner in Nevada and founded a town there that he named for his beloved General – Reno, Nevada.

G Gathland State Park: Scene of fierce fighting during the Battle of South Mountain in 1862, the Cramptons Gap area was bought by reporter George Alfred Townsend (pen name: Gath) in 1884. In 1896 Townsend organized the construction of the War Correspondents Arch here to commemorate correspondents and artists of the Civil War.

H Appalachian Trail: Completed in 1937, this 2,157-mile trail stretches from Mt. Katahdin, Maine to Springer Mountain, Georgia. Thirteen miles of the JFK-50 traverses this famous footpath; please be courteous to its hikers.

I Weverton: Today's tiny village was once a thriving industrial town founded by Casper Wever in the 1830s. Water from the Potomac River powered mills here for 50 years before floods and finances forced them to close.

J B&O Railroad: Started in Baltimore on July 4, 1828, the B&O Railroad reached this area by 1834, and went all the way to Cumberland, Maryland in 1842. Today the tracks are part of the CSX Rail Transportation System.

K C&O Canal: When construction of the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal was also begun on July 4, 1828 in Washington, D.C., the "race" was on for the best transportation link to the west. The C&O Canal also reached this area by 1834, but construction problems prevented it from reaching Cumberland until 1850. The C&O Canal ceased operations in 1924 and today is preserved as the 185-mile-long C&O Canal National Historical Park. Twenty-six miles of the JFK-50 Miler – a marathon in itself – follows this park's towpath where mules once pulled canal boats.

L Harpers Ferry: Founded in 1733 as a ferry crossing over the Potomac River, Harpers Ferry became famous for its privately owned and federally funded gun factories and arsenals from the 1790s through the 1850s that attracted John Brown's ill-fated raid in 1859 to gather arms for a slave rebellion. During the Civil War, Harpers Ferry's armories and arsenals were destroyed as the town changed hands 8 times between Union and Confederate forces. Today, Harpers Ferry National Historical Park preserves much of the historic town and the surrounding mountains – Bolivar Heights (WV), Maryland Heights (MD), Loudoun Heights (WV & VA), and Short Hill (VA).

History along the Route of the JFK 50-Mile: from A to Z (see the map on the next page)

M Battle of Maryland Heights: From September 10-12, 1862, three separate Confederate forces totaling 30,000 soldiers, marched from Frederick, Maryland to surround the Union garrison at Harpers Ferry. On September 13, a battle was fought on Maryland Heights (most of these hills were denuded by the charcoal industry before the Civil War). The Confederates won this battle – along with skirmishes on Loudoun Heights and near Bolivar Heights – and forced the 12,500-man Union army into Harpers Ferry under a relentless Confederate bombardment.

N Harpers Ferry Road: Note the road across from the canal here: On the night of September 14, 1862, about 1,500 Union cavalymen made a daring middle-of-the-night escape from a Confederate trap by riding their horses across a bridge and up this road to Sharpsburg. The next day, the remaining 11,000 Union soldiers surrendered – the largest U.S. troop surrender until WWII. On September 16, most of the Confederate troops marched up this road to rejoin Gen. Robert E. Lee outside Sharpsburg for what would be the bloodiest one-day battle in American history.

O Fort Duncan: Union troops built this fort and others on Maryland Heights in 1863 to protect Harpers Ferry.

P Potomac River: Draining much of the Mid-Atlantic Region, the Potomac River's headwaters start in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia. George Washington envisioned the Potomac as the Gateway to the West.

Q Antietam Aqueduct: Triple-arch stone aqueduct built in 1833 to carry the C&O Canal over Antietam Creek.

R Millers Sawmill: This quiet riverside community once bustled with milling activity. In mid-September 1862, Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee stationed his Chief Engineer here to watch over the level of the Potomac River since Lee knew he may need to ford his army across the river here if the Battle of Antietam went against him.

S Packhorse Ford: Just upstream from Millers Sawmill is a "double V-shaped" ford (shallow crossing place) in the Potomac River. This ford has been used by American Indians, German and Scotch-Irish pioneers traveling from Pennsylvania to Virginia, and Lee's Army of Northern Virginia in their retreat from the Battle of Antietam.

T James Rumsey Monument: As you approach the Route 34 bridge (also called the James Rumsey Bridge), look across the Potomac River to Shepherdstown which was chartered as Mechlenburg in 1762. The tall monument visible near the railroad bridge is a monument to James Rumsey, who was George Washington's Chief Engineer for the Potowmack Canal Company in the 1790s. Rumsey was also the inventor of the first steamboat. In 1787, he demonstrated his steamboat along the Potomac here before hundreds of cheering witnesses along the riverbanks – 20 years before Robert Fulton demonstrated his steamboat on the Hudson.

U Killiansburg Cave: On September 16-18, 1862, hundreds of Sharpburg citizens came here to seek refuge under these cliffs from the Battle of Antietam. The cave entrance is visible from the C&O Canal towpath.

V Snyders Landing: This riverside community was once a tie-up point for canal boat owners from Sharpsburg.

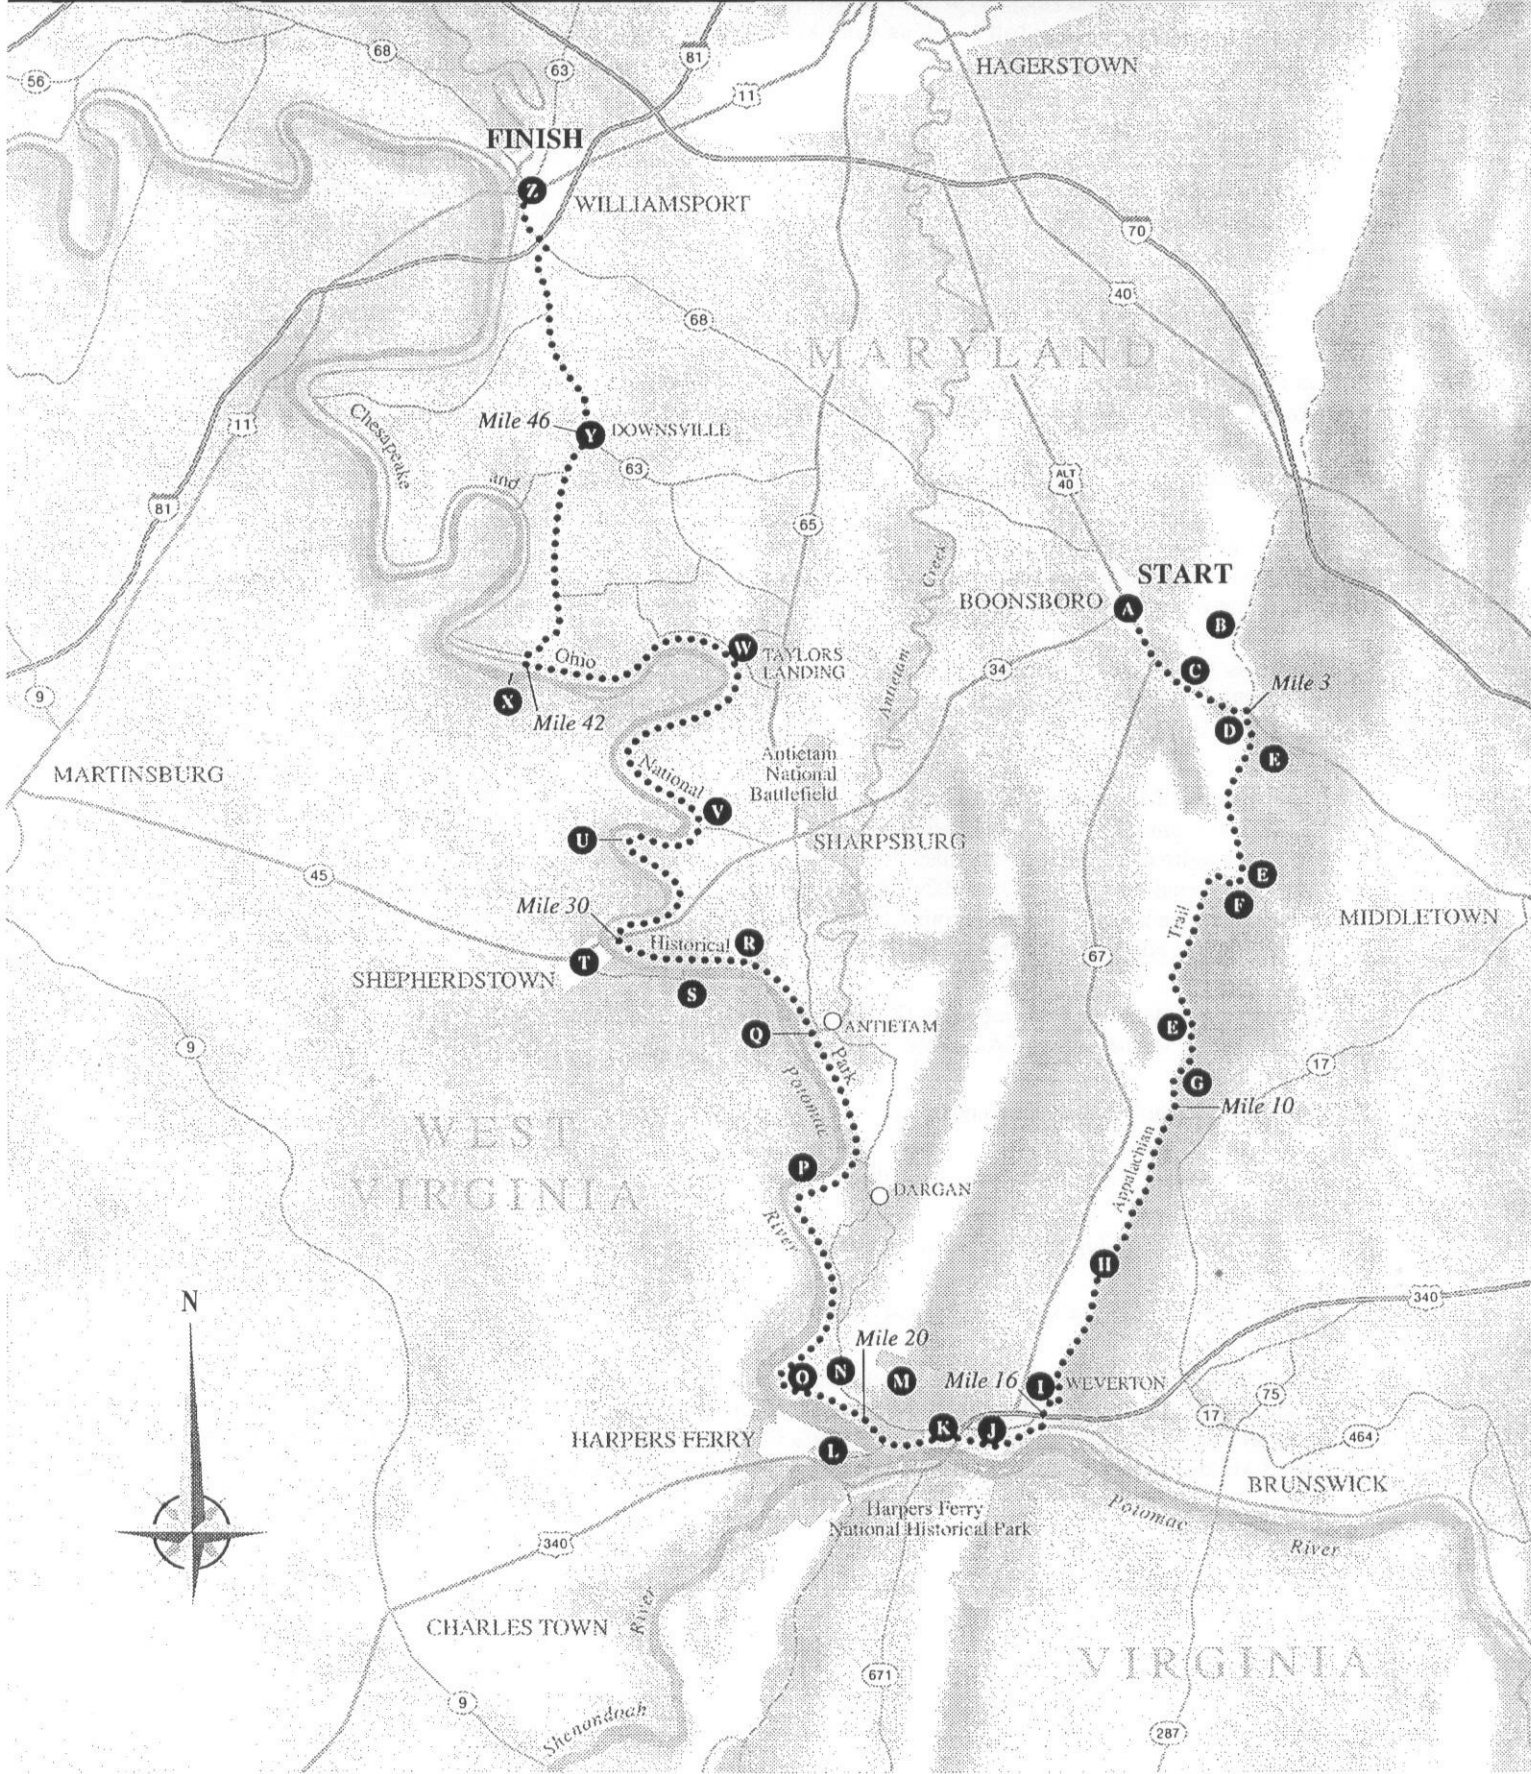

W Taylors Landing: Community was first called Mercersburg, for the first president of the C&O Canal Company.

X Dam #4: This 18-ft.-high masonry dam was one of 7 built on the Potomac to provide water for the C&O Canal.

Y Downsville: Founded in 1852, this typical crossroads village has changed little over the past century.

Z Williamsport: The Williams brothers who founded this town in 1786 proposed to George Washington that this area would make a good location for our national capital before the Georgetown, Maryland site was selected in 1790. Williamsport was especially prosperous during the C&O Canal's heyday from the 1840s to the 1880s. Since 1980, Springfield Middle School here has been the finish line of the John F. Kennedy Memorial 50-Mile.
