Washington Post
photographer Richard Darcey captures Max White's expression at the exact moment of his record breaking triumph in 1973. White's record 5:55:30 was and still is the only sub
six hour performance
ever achieved in the JFK-50.

Tom Rothrock (center), blind since birth, relaxes with his "eyes", Dick Heiks (left) and Don Muffley (right) after becoming the first blind runner to ever complete the JFK-50. Tom placed 133rd in the field of 673 starters with a clocking of 10:52:55 for the rugged course that has left many sighted runners flat on their faces.

WELCOME TO MARYLAND - Californian George Stewart gets anything but a warm welcome in his first ever go at 50 miles. Stewart is pictured along Dam # 4 Road on the bitter cold and rain plagued JFK of March 30, 1974. However, Stewart proved to be as tough as the weather as he recorded one of the few performances from that day to rank in the All-Time Top 25.

KIM BYRON

Kim Byron seemed to be wearing a prophetic No. "9" when he checked in last year with his eighth JFK finish to take the lead in the "250 Mile" Club. Kim returns this year seeking that ninth finish in quest to be the first member of the "500 Mile" Club.

HOWARD RIDENOUR

The JFK-50 and the "250 Mile" Club lost one of its most enthusiastic members this year when cancer took the life of Howard Ridenour. Howard's dogged determination will long be remembered by all those who were fortunate enough to get to know him along the way of the JFK.
